SEVENTIETH YEAR

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, MARCH 7, 1947

NUMBER 13

CONGRESSIONAL HAPPENINGS IN
WASHINGTONBy CLARENCE J. BROWN
Member of Congress

By a roll call vote of 51 to 33 the senate late last week approved a reduction in the president's budget of four billion five hundred million dollars—thus placing a top limit on federal spending of $33.5 billion. The house ten days earlier had fixed a budget ceiling of $31.5 billion, or 6 billion below the amount requested by the president. A conference committee, made up of members from the house and senate, will now have to work out a compromise budget cut figure, which most Capitol observers believe will finally be either $3 or $3.5 billion.

In recent weeks spokesmen of the Truman administration have been putting on a terrific battle against congressional efforts to reduce the president's budget and federal spending therefor for the coming fiscal year. Many government department and officials have been propagandizing the people and the congress against the proposed budget cut, all at the taxpayers' expense and in direct contradiction to the federal statutes which make it a criminal offense for any government officer or official to endeavor to influence legislative action by the congress. The war and navy departments have seemingly been the leaders in this effort to prevent congressional pruning of the presidential budget, with the argument that any sizeable reduction in government spending will endanger our national defense and security.

It might be well for the American people to take a look at some of our present military costs and determine for themselves whether it is possible to cut expenses without endangering national security. Back in 1929 it cost $2,772.00 per man per year to maintain our armed forces. During the height of the war, when all sorts of munitions and equipment were being used rapidly, the cost per man rose to $8,600.00. Now, in the new budget the army proposes to spend $1,000.00 per year, per man—more than in war time—and the navy slightly less. It cost $12,000.00 per year to maintain each military man in Japan, and approximately $10,000.00 a year for each soldier in Germany—much more than it cost to maintain our troops in battle in these same areas during the war. Today there is one commissioned army officer on the payroll for each seven enlisted men, and one navy officer for each ten men. There are six times as many colonels in the army, at the present time, in proportion to the number of troops, than there were during the war. In addition, both the army and navy have an unusually large number of civilian employees. So that overall, we are now maintaining two officers, or civilian workers, for each three enlisted men in the army and navy.

While there is some more newsprint and other paper being manufactured on the North American continent than during the war, the demand therefor has grown so rapidly, and such great shortages have developed in different sections of the country, that many newspapers and other publications are faced with suspending publication, while retailers and manufacturers are finding it difficult to obtain wrapping and packing paper. In some areas it is also virtually impossible for housewives to find tissues for home uses. These paper shortages have become so serious, that last week the house of representatives voted 263-100 to create a special committee (which will be headed by your reporter as chairman) to make a study and investigation, and take such action as may be helpful in (first) getting an equitable distribution of present paper supplies; and (second) to increase production of newsprint, paper, paper products, pulp and pulp wood. The committee is getting under way with its work this week.

For some reason or other our "big brained" economic planners, all through the war and up to within a few months ago did not deem it necessary to permit the manufacture of any appreciable number of railroad freight cars for use in this country, although the rolling stock of most American railroads are literally falling apart. Steel could be found to build freight cars for shipment overseas, at our expense, but little or none was available for domestic use. Because of this lack of foresight, or failure to give any consideration to our own national welfare, there has developed such a great shortage of railroad cars as to become a real threat to our national economy.

Housing shortage? We never heard of such a thing, baby chicks say around Cedarville.

Thanks to the Cedarville chapter of Future Farmers of America, (FFA) baby chicks are very well housed in this community and from all indications the poultry housing situation will improve throughout 1947.

A few months ago members of the Cedarville chapter conducted a survey and found that the township needed good brooder houses.

So, in their modern workshop behind the high school, they began construction of modern brooder houses, both for the flock on their own farms and to be sold to other farmers. Profits were to go to the chapter treasury.

"The boys decided to build a brooder house which would give top efficiency and also be convenient to work in," said Ralph Harner, who supervises the work.

"We decided to construct a brooder fashioned after an Army Quonset hut 10x12 feet and with a ceiling of six and one-half feet in the middle."

Labor was done by members of the chapter as part of their classroom work. New lumber was used throughout and the roof was covered with sheathing and shingles.

Two windows in front of the building allow plenty of sunlight to enter and besides a regular door there is a small opening just large enough for little chicks.

"We built this brooder house mainly of a well constructed brooder house," explained Gene Ritenour, who at home has a flock of New Hampshire Reds.

"We will sell it for $150 and it's a bargain, but we will have plenty left over for the chapter fund."

FINAL PLANS ARE MADE FOR GOV'T
BUILDING HERE

President Ira D. Vayhinger of Cedarville college was in Washington DC last week consulting with government officials on final arrangements for a government surplus building to be erected on the local campus.

The building which is now at Patterson field is to be erected to the east of the baseball diamond and will face on College street. It will be used for social rooms and commons.

The building, which is one story frame 25 by 65 feet, is to be turned over to the college and will be erected by the government as soon as a contractor can be obtained.

While in Washington President Vayhinger obtained promise of additional equipment for the college's cafeteria at the library which will modernize the college dining room.

Both the building and cafeteria equipment are surplus government property and are being given to all colleges and universities throughout the country where a large per cent of the students are going to school under the GI bill of rights.

Mr. Culter suffered head bruises. Mrs. Kautz's wife, Frances, 27, received nose and knee hurts, and his daughter, Kay, 5, a bruised face. Mrs. Culter was removed to Dayton in a Nagley ambulance.

Bruce Pierce, 20, Home Ave., driver of one car, sustained head injuries when his machine was involved in a Route 68 accident, six miles south of Xenia at 8:40 p. m. Sunday. Sheriff Walton Spahr and Deputy Robert L. Wood learned Pierce's car and one driven by Sheridan Riley, 43, of 1510 E. Second St., Dayton, collided.

Opekasit Granary
Destroyed by Fire

Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Opekasit center granary at South Soion Tuesday as townspeople stood by with only a dozen hand extinguishers to combat the blaze.

Besides wrecking the building, the flames consumed 20,000 bushels of corn. The fire started in the head house at the top of the structure. Estimate of the damage was withheld pending arrival of Opekasit Co. officials from Hamilton. Extensive repairs were made within the past three years.

With the cooperation of Dr. Reeves and Dr. Haines of Xenia a dental inspection program has been initiated throughout the entire school. Students of the first three grades were inspected and corrective work performed on 34 students of the first three grades by a Dental Trailer Unit from the State Department of Health. The State program does not go beyond the third grade. Dr. Reeves and Dr. Haines will examine the students of the remaining eight grades. A report of the condition of each child's teeth will be sent home. To date the program has revealed that ninety per cent of the children of the first three grades had defective teeth. One half of the remaining children have been examined and seventy nine per cent have defective teeth.

Parents are requested to report back to school authorities any corrective work performed on their children's teeth. Each child will be provided a slip for that purpose. School authorities are working on a program to provide aid for needy cases who need dental work.

OHIO COLLEGIATE TOURNEY STARTS AT LOCAL GYM

The Ohio collegiate basketball tournament got under way at Alford Memorial gym last night with the semi-finals being scheduled for tonight (Friday) with games scheduled for 7:30 and 9 and the finals will be played Saturday night at 8:30.

Bliss of Columbus met Interstate of Portsmouth in the tourney opener last night while the Yellow Jackets of Cedarville opened their tourney play against Ohio U., Chillicothe division. The games were played after the Herald press time.

Winner of the Bliss-Interstate game will tangle tonight with powerful Tiffin, who drew a first round bye, in the first of the two clashes tonight.

In the second game tonight the winner of the Ohio U. (Chillicothe)-Yellow Jacket contest will meet the other first round bye holder Ohio U. (Portsmouth).

The winners of the games tonight will tangle in the finals on Saturday.

The Yellow Jackets enter the tourney with a season record of 11-11 and stand in the 20th place in the Associated Press listings of all Ohio colleges.

Tiffin university sports the best record of any of the teams coming here, having won all but three encounters, two of them at the hands of the Greene county colleges, Wilberforce and Cedarville, out of some 20 odd starts.

Bliss has a rather mediocre record and not much is known of the records of the two Ohio U. divisions and Interstate. At the same time put up a game fight before going down to defeat at the hands of Wilberforce on the Greene county court Tuesday night by a count of 69-63.

Coach Mendell E. Beattie, who is managing the meet, states that aside from the trophies for both first and second place winners there will be miniature gold basketballs for each member of the winning team and like silver awards for the members of the second place aggregation.

An engraved wrist watch with an expansion bracelet will be given to the player in the tournament displaying the best sportsmanship. The award is being given by the merchants of Cedarville.

The six team tournament is the first to be held here and Coach Beattie has said that he hopes to make it an annual affair and to attract more teams in the future.

Aside from the single admissions sold at the gate, season tickets were sold to both adults and students.

RED CROSS HAS AN ACTIVE HOME
SERVICE PROGRAM

In carrying out the responsibilities imposed by its Congressional Charter, every Chapter shares in the national Red Cross program of Services to the Armed Forces by providing Home Service for men in the military and naval forces and their families and for discharged men and their dependants. The primary responsibility of Home Service is to assist servicemen and ex-servicemen and their families in meeting those needs which arise from the man's service in the armed forces. Red Cross services are available in this country and overseas to active service personnel in all branches of our armed forces and to their families. Army posts and naval stations in the United States and overseas are served on a resident or itinerant basis by Red Cross workers. The Chapters in all local communities share the responsibility of acting in matters of voluntary relief and as a medium of communication between the people of the United States and their Army and Navy.

The services rendered by the Greene County Chapter are many and varied, and are given on a 24-hour basis by two paid workers, Miss Katherine Smith, Executive Director, and Mrs. Caroline McCormick, Home Service Worker, with the invaluable aid of a trained volunteer Home Service Corps. Home Service carries out its responsibilities through the following functions:

Family Service: Rendered by Mrs. McCormick with the assistance of the Corps. It consists of financial assistance for special needs not provided for from public funds and basic maintenance when public relief is not available; consultation and guidance directed toward meeting those family problems which do not require (Continued on Page Four)

Lindamood, lost in an alleged gambling center operated as Druids Lodge by Paul Dennis, the Franklin Grove Lodge No. 2, United Ancient Order of Druids, of Dayton, and others, all defendants.

The appellate court's session will be its first in Greene County since William C. Wiseman, Dayton, was elevated to the presiding judgeship, succeeding Roscoe G. Hornbeck of London. The third jurist is Fred G. Miller of Columbus.
